WHAT IS NBMDA?

The North American Building Material Distribution Association (NBMDA) was formed as a result of the 1995 merger between the Canadian National Building Material Distributors Association (CNBMDA) and the National Building Material Distributors Association (NBMDA) which was originally founded in 1954. Today, the expanded NBMDA is the premier association for the distributors, suppliers, and service providers involved in the distribution of building materials and related products throughout North America. Its primary responsibility is to work with its members to provide support services needed to prosper in the changing distribution marketplace.

BENEFITS OF MEMBERSHIP:

An associate member receives exclusive access to promote their company, products and services to the membership.

QUALIFICATION FOR SUPPLIER MEMBERSHIP:

Any manufacturer of building materials or related specialty products and any importer of such product who utilizes wholesale distributors to resell their products to the marketplace, may become an associate member.
